

Website Image Map & Photo Direction

Exactly which photo goes in every section of the painting & roofing website templates.
Every tag here (IMG-01 → IMG-15) matches a hatched slot in the annotated homepage wireframe.

Pro Vision Painting

Legacy Painting

ACS Roofers

Every photo slot has a tag. Every tag has a spec.

1

Find the tag in the wireframe

Hatched boxes mark every photo slot on the homepage wireframe — IMG-01 (hero) through IMG-15 (map). The wireframe shows position; this deck defines the shot.

2

Open the matching slide

Each slide gives the exact shot, minimum size, orientation, source, and the mistakes to avoid — plus a screenshot of how it's used in the current drafts.

3

Name the files after the tags

img-01-hero.jpg, img-04-interior.jpg ... and drop them into the client kit's /photos folder. The developer should never have to guess which image goes where.

GLOBAL RULES — EVERY IMAGE, EVERY SITE

- Real client photos beat stock — use stock only where a slide explicitly allows it
- Full-bleed sections need ≥ 2400 px-wide originals; cards ≥ 900 px — never upscale
- Landscape orientation unless the slide says portrait
- Consistent daylight white balance across a page — no heavy filters or HDR halos
- Export WebP (or JPG ~q80), each file ≤ 300 KB after compression
- No watermarks, timestamps, or competitor branding in frame
- Every stock image properly licensed — never Google Images grabs

Hero background — you win or lose trust here

THE SHOT

Real crew photo: 2-4 painters in branded shirts standing by the company-wrapped truck, parked in front of a freshly painted two-story home. Shot at golden hour or bright overcast. Camera at chest height, wide angle. Fallback if no crew photo exists: a clean exterior 'after' shot of the best local project.

SPECS

- Landscape 16:9, min 2400x1350px
- Keep the right two-thirds visually calm - headline, trust chips and the quote form sit on top
- Site adds a dark navy overlay (40-60%), so avoid photos that are already dark

✓ SOURCE

Client jobsite photo required (this slot builds trust). Stock is a last resort: 'house painters crew truck exterior'.

✗ AVOID

No stock photos of random American houses that don't match the local housing stock. No busy skies or harsh noon shadows. No photos where faces are cut off.

Pro Vision draft — branded truck behind the headline + form

Team photo — people buy from people

THE SHOT

Whole crew lined up in front of the branded truck on a lawn, matching company shirts, natural smiles (Pro Vision style). Solo operators: professional owner portrait, chest-up, branded polo, soft background (ACS 'David Kuczynski' style). If a company-story video exists, this image becomes the play-button thumbnail.

SPECS

- 4:3 or 3:2 landscape, min 1200x900px
- Faces sharp, evenly lit
- Leave breathing room above heads for the play button overlay

✓ SOURCE

Client photo required - never stock. People buy from people; a stock 'team' destroys trust.

✗ AVOID

No sunglasses hiding eyes, no cluttered backgrounds (dumpsters, competitors' signage), no group shots taken from far away where faces are unrecognizable.

Pro Vision draft — whole crew, branded shirts, story-video overlay

Action shot — real work happening

THE SHOT

Mid-action shot: one painter high on an extension ladder cutting in siding or trim, a second painter working lower - shows scale, safety and real work happening (Legacy uses exactly this). Branded shirts visible if possible.

SPECS

- Landscape 4:3, min 1600x1200px
- Subject slightly right-of-center
- Sharp focus on the painters, not the ladder hardware

✓ SOURCE

Client jobsite photo preferred. Stock fallback: 'professional painter extension ladder house siding'.

✗ AVOID

No posed 'pretending to paint' stock shots, no unsafe ladder positions (dev: this photo signals professionalism - OSHA-sketchy photos cost jobs).

Legacy draft — the photo that sits beside the lead-capture form

WHY THIS SLOT MATTERS

It sits next to the 'Ready to get started?' form. A real crew at work is the visual proof that makes visitors comfortable submitting their phone number.

Service cards — Interior · Exterior · Cabinets & Trim

Interior Painting

Bright finished living room, natural light, neutral walls

- Bright, natural light — walls are the hero
- Warm neutral colors, minimal furniture
- 4:3 landscape · min 900×675px

Exterior Painting

Full house 'after' with blue sky, curb-appeal angle

- Front-corner angle, whole house in frame
- Blue sky, mowed lawn, local house style
- 4:3 landscape · min 900×675px

Cabinets / Trim & Doors

Close-up detail: white shaker cabinets or crisp trim line

- Tight detail: crisp paint line or cabinets
- Razor-sharp focus on the edge
- 4:3 landscape · min 900×675px

All six cards share one look: bright, 4:3, subject fills the frame. Screenshots above are from the Legacy Painting draft — match that energy for every client.

Service cards — Commercial · Fence & Deck · Garage & Shed

Commercial Painting

Local commercial building exterior (office / storefront)

- Small office / storefront / apartment block
- Believable for the local market — no skylines
- 4:3 landscape · min 900×675px

Fence & Deck

Freshly stained deck with rich wet-look wood tone

- Freshly stained deck, rich even color
- Railing or stairs visible; PM light glows
- 4:3 landscape · min 900×675px

Garage & Shed

Painted shed or garage with clean lines

- Painted shed/garage with crisp uniform color
- Clean yard, nothing blocking the structure
- 4:3 landscape · min 900×675px

This slot sells the AFTER — never use peeling 'before' photos on a service card. Save those for the before/after gallery (IMG-12).

Crew candid — authenticity beats polish

THE SHOT

Candid, un-posed shot of two crew members in branded hoodies/shirts working together at a home's entry - taping, prepping or inspecting (Legacy's strongest photo: two painters at a blue door, logos readable on their backs). Authenticity over polish.

SPECS

- Landscape 4:3 or portrait 3:4, min 1200px on the long edge
- Branding must be legible

✓ SOURCE

Client photo required - the branded clothing is the point. Stock cannot fake this.

✗ AVOID

No faces required here - backs with logos actually work better. No staged handshakes, no hard-hat stock clichés.

Legacy draft — branded hoodies, real moment, logos readable

Real > Perfect

Backs-with-logos beats faces-with-fake-smiles. This is the one photo stock can never fake.

CTA banner — the capability shot

THE SHOT

The 'wow' shot: painter(s) on a boom lift or staging working a tall exterior wall (Legacy uses a green boom lift against a blue building). Conveys capability on big jobs. Sits on the right half of a dark navy banner behind a diagonal red paint-stroke crop.

SPECS

- Landscape, min 1600x900px
- Key subject must live in the RIGHT half - the left half is covered by headline and buttons
- Must read well at 50% darkened edges

✓ SOURCE

Client photo preferred. Stock fallback: 'painters boom lift building exterior'.

✗ AVOID

No tiny distant figures - the lift/ladder should fill the frame. Avoid warm/orange color casts that fight the navy+red brand palette.

Legacy draft — boom lift under the red paint-stroke crop

headline + buttons

photo zone → subject lives here

Project gallery — the proof section

THE SHOT

Three real, named projects - mirror Legacy's mix: (a) residential exterior repaint, (b) deck revival or interior transformation, (c) commercial/apartment job. Each gets a title + category caption over a dark bottom gradient. Alternative (Pro Vision pattern): before/after pairs - same angle, same height, same daylight for both frames.

SPECS

- Very wide crop ~21:9, min 2000x900px each - shoot loose so the wide crop doesn't decapitate roofs
- Before/after pairs: min 1000px each, identical framing

✓ SOURCE

Client project photos ONLY. This section is the proof - stock here is lying to customers.

✗ AVOID

No mixing portrait and landscape in the row.
Before/after: never different angles or lighting - it reads as fake.

Legacy draft — 3 named projects, captions on gradients

Pro Vision draft — before/after pairs (same angle in both!)

Interior action — 'we respect your home'

THE SHOT

Painter actively cutting in a ceiling line or rolling a wall INSIDE a home or office, drop cloths visible, tidy workspace (Legacy uses a painter in a glass office interior). Shows care inside customers' homes.

SPECS

- Portrait 3:4 or landscape 4:3, min 1200px long edge

✓ SOURCE

Client photo preferred. Stock fallback: 'professional painter interior roller drop cloth'.

✗ AVOID

No paint mess on floors, no ladders leaning on finished walls - the photo argues 'we respect your home'.

Legacy draft — office repaint, drop cloths down, tidy site

Blog thumbnails — match the topic AND the niche

X Found in the ACS Roofers draft: an interior living room and a laundry-cabinet photo used as thumbnails for ROOFING articles. The thumbnail must never contradict the headline.

THE RULE

- Each thumbnail literally matches its article: color guide → painted room; prep article → taping/masking; cost article → estimate scene
- Painting articles get painting images; roofing articles get roofs
- Stock is fine here — keyword the article title
- 4:3 landscape · min 900×675px each

Service-area map — live embed, right city

X Found in the Pro Vision (Jacksonville, FL) draft: the map is centered on Mt Clemens, MICHIGAN — copied over from the ACS file. Re-center the embed for every client.

THE RULE

- Use a live Google Maps embed, not a screenshot
- Center on the client's actual city, branded pin on their address
- City chips above the map = the client's real service towns
- Light/desaturated map style to match the design
- Full-width, ~500–650px tall

Roofing clients — same slots, different subjects

- IMG-01

Hero

Branded truck + crew photo (the ACS draft nails this — patriotic overlay optional)
- IMG-03

Action

Crew installing shingles, shot from roof level — the ACS multifamily install is the benchmark
- IMG-12

Gallery

Drone or elevated 'after' shots of completed roofs — ground-level roof photos undersell the work
- IMG-02

About

Founder portrait works great for roofing (see David's card in the ACS draft)

Roofs are hard to fake with stock — architecture, pitch and shingle types are regional. Client jobsite + drone photos strongly preferred.

ACS draft — crew at roof level (IMG-03 swap)

ACS draft — founder portrait (IMG-02 swap)

Fix these before launch

HIGH

Placeholder reviews still live

Review sections show lorem ipsum with "Jacob Jones" / "Devon Lane" and 2014 dates. Wire up live Google reviews (real names, avatars, dates) before launch.

Pro Vision + ACS drafts

HIGH

Wrong-state FAQ copy

The Jacksonville FL site asks "What areas do you serve in Indiana?" — template copy carried over. Every city/state mention needs a per-client pass.

Pro Vision draft · FAQ section

HIGH

Wrong-city map embed

Michigan (Mt Clemens) map on the Florida site — copied from the ACS file. Re-center per client (see IMG-15).

Pro Vision draft · service areas

MED

Niche-mismatched blog thumbnails

Interior-design photos on roofing articles (see IMG-14). Swap for roof/storm/installation imagery.

ACS draft · blog section

Root cause: cloning templates between clients. Add a find-and-replace QA pass (city, state, map, reviews, blog images) to every launch checklist.

SEND THIS TO EVERY NEW CLIENT

The 8-shot client photo list

One hour with a decent phone camera on a sunny jobsite covers every slot in this deck.

1

Crew + wrapped truck in front of a finished job

→ IMG-01 hero

2

Team group photo in branded shirts

→ IMG-02 about

3

Working shots — ladders / lift on an exterior

→ IMG-03 + IMG-11

4

3–5 best 'after' exteriors, shot loose and wide

→ IMG-05 + IMG-12

5

Interior afters: living room, cabinets, trim close-up

→ IMG-04 / 06 / 13

6

A 'before' from the same angle as every after

→ IMG-12 pairs

7

Owner portrait, branded polo, soft background

→ IMG-02 alt

8

Roofing: drone 'afters' + crew on the roof

→ IMG-03 / 12 swap

File handoff: name by tag (img-01-hero.jpg) · WebP/JPG ≤300KB · originals ≥2400px · drop into the client kit /photos folder · questions → dillon@paintandprofits.com